

Dunham Lake is a recreational lake within Grafton Lakes State Park in Grafton, New York. Constructed in 1911 as a water source for the City of Troy, it now offers opportunities for quiet recreation, including kayaking, fishing, hiking, and nature watching. The future of this lake is currently a subject of local debate, with discussions surrounding the repair or removal of its aging dam.

Map created by Andy Arthur on 11/14/2025 in QGIS 3.44.4-Solothurn. Contains NYS GIS and DEC data with additional campsites added by Andy. More maps at andyarthur.org.

