

The Clapper Hollow State Forest is an 818-acre preserve in Jefferson, New York, featuring lush forests, streams, and abundant wildlife. Visitors can enjoy hiking, cross-country skiing, and primitive camping, including a lean-to overlooking a small pond.

Map created by Andy Arthur on 10/9/2025 in QGIS 3.44.3-Solothurn. Contains NYS GIS and DEC data with additional campsites added by Andy. More maps at andyarthur.org.

