

Taylor Creek State Forest is a 1,860-acre natural area in central St. Lawrence County, New York, known for its pristine beauty and undeveloped landscape. It features a mix of northern hardwood, hemlock, and white pine forests, along with serene wetlands and sparkling streams.

Map created by Andy Arthur on 11/5/2025 in QGIS 3.44.3-Solothurn. Contains NYS GIS and DEC data with additional campsites added by Andy. More maps at andyarthur.org.

