

The Cooper Kiln Pond Trail, leads hikers through Wilmington Wild Forest to a scenic, remote pond with a lean-to. The moderate, out-and-back trail traverses an old woods road and offers varied terrain, from gentle climbs through evergreen forests to steeper, rockier sections. At 2.7 miles one-way, the destination features a pristine, high-elevation pond and views of surrounding mountain ranges. 3.8 miles from Boonview Road to Guilespy Road.
