

1936 Sept. 27

344 Sheridan Ave.
Albany, New York
12206

Dear Editor:

I wonder if the new offices will really bring many more consumers. In case some haven't noticed, there's been a few changes in transportation since 1797, when the first State Office Building was built in Albany. Most of those re-shifted State workers will drive out of their grand new downtown garage to their suburban homes, at the rush hour. They will then, drive to various malls located at ex farms, to shop.

Very truly,

Tel. 465-8930

City should own, and even construct buildings, retain ownership, then lease them to the State on favorable terms conditional upon their